GED - GENERAL ENGLISH FOR DIPLOMA

GED 100 Develop English language skills (4-0-3)
This is an integrated English and study skills course intended to further develop the students' college and career-related language skills. The focus is on enhancing students' listening, speaking, reading and writing skills with increased attention to program area needs. Through a strong focus on the linguistic skills required for their chosen Diploma program courses, students are equipped with the literacy skills needed to achieve the required language competency in their chosen field of study.
Prerequisites: GED 0103

GED 0103 General English I for Diploma (12-2-3)
This is an integrated English and study skills course intended to introduce college and career-related language skills to students. The focus is on developing students' listening, speaking, reading and writing skills to the required level to improve their access within program courses. Through a strong focus on the linguistic skills required for their chosen Diploma program courses, students are introduced to the literacy skills needed to move towards achieving the required language competency in their chosen field of study.

GED 200 Document Network Issues - Technical English (4-0-4)
This unit aims to provide learners with the essential language skills and communication proficiency needed to excel in the field of network and system administration, enabling them to interpret and apply technical instructions, analyze information for effective problem-solving, and communicate collaboratively while maintaining a security-minded approach.